When the American Consul General at Vera Cruz is called on to explain to the Mexican government the instructions which he has received from the United States government, it is not unusual for him to be asked to explain the instructions which he has received from the United States government.

Through the international law, the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights.

Some battleships of the Atlantic fleet have been ordered to leave the United States coast for the Mediterranean. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights.

Predictions as to the course the United States would pursue varied greatly in administration circles. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights.

That the United States may be required to back up measures and policies is being taken into consideration for administration officials and while there is no comment to indicate the trend of affairs, there is an unmistakable evidence that high officials are prepared for any eventuality. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights. It is pointed out that the American consul general has not extra-territorial rights.

WIRE COMMUNICATION WITH MONTEREY IS CUT OFF
Mexico City, Oct. 24.—Wire communication with the besieged city of Monterey ceased at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, according to an announcement here today. At that time the fighting, which began Wednesday night, was raging furiously in the outskirts of the city.

The main rebel force occupied a point about a mile from the center of the city. They had a number of cannons with which they bombarded federal fortifications and they also had at least one machine gun. Federal reinforcements commanded by General Rubio Navarrete at Tampico, 100 miles north of Monterey, were unable to proceed to Monterey owing to the destruction of the bridges and lack of fuel. Some 1,000 rebels have moved east from Torreon and are harassing General Treviño at Hualar, where he has been concentrating for a movement on Torreon.

DIAS MOVEMENTS REMAIN UNKNOWLEDGELY GUARDED
Mexico City, Oct. 24.—Whether General Felix Diaz will come to the federal capital or remain in Veracruz until after the presidential election appeared to be a matter of doubt in the minds of his most prominent adherents here today.

Jose Luis Reguena, candidate for vice president on the Diaz ticket, expressed the belief that his leader would likely be in or near here today or tomorrow. On being asked whether he feared General Diaz would be arrested or prevented from leaving Veracruz, Senor Reguena said it was possible and added: "The government has power to do these things and it is easy to find a pretext."

Thus far, however, Senor Reguena has received no intimation that such a thing is contemplated by the government. Senor Reguena declared his campaign had cost $250,000. "It has been the greatest campaign ever fought by a single individual in Mexico," he said. "Over four thousand clubs have been organized throughout the republic and they are sure of carrying five states, while in twenty others we look for possible majorities.

Notwithstanding the declaration made by Provisional President Huerta yesterday in the presence of the diplomatic corps that he would not accept an election as president should the ballot show him to have a majority, the impression is general among the public that the elections on Sunday will fail to show any other candidate with sufficient votes to win.

BRITISH MINISTER APPEARS INDEPENDENT TO CRITICISM
Mexico City, Oct. 24.—Press criticisms of the recent utterances of Sir Lionel Carden regarding Washington's lack of understanding of conditions in Mexico do not appear to have much affected the British minister to Mexico. He appears to regard the matter as an unwarranted controversy with which he declines to have anything to do.

Sir Lionel explained his views at some length to the Associated Press today but firmly declined to be quoted again. He drew a distinction between the views held by him as an individual and those he held as an official of his government, but since the public, he said, could not or would not distinguish between them he believed it was to withhold any further opinion.

It was easy to observe that Sir Lionel Carden was not fully in accord with the policy of Washington and it was apparent that he thought the British government entitled to have a policy of its own and that he saw no reason for following that of the United States if that policy differed from his own. He said that the British government was not for the best interests of the British.

MEXICANS LOOKING FOR ACTIVE EUROPEAN AID
Mexico City, Oct. 24.—The controversy between the United States and Great Britain appears to have convinced Mexicans that the European nations generally are coming into line with England in opposition to the United States. Under the heading, "Entire Europe is on the side of Mexico," El Independiente says: "In London everybody is taking note of the possibility of Anglo-American complications. The United States has not taken into account that at the back of England there are many other nations interested in the solution of the Mexican problem. On this line it is obvious absolutely that three chancelleries are working in perfect accord—namely, those of London, Paris and Berlin."

"Back of them are the great European alliances and the Anglo-Japanese alliance. It would be neither diplomatically nor prudent to defy these great nations."

The newspaper quotes various London newspapers, the following extract being credited to the Daily Graphic: "If England does not oppose the expansionist policy of the North American she will lose the commerce she has with Mexico and Central America. It is certain that the efforts of the Americans are directed to see

AMERICAN CONSUL FORCES RELEASE OF "MORO CASTLE"
Veracruz, Oct. 24.—After protests by the American consul against the delay of the Ward line steamer Moro Castle by order of the authorities here, the vessel was formally released this morning for Havana and New York. Mrs. Lind, the wife of President Wilson's personal representative, is on board.

NO INTENTION TO MOISTEN DIAZ SAYS HUERTA
Mexico City, Oct. 24.—There is no intention on the part of the Huerta government to moisten General Felix Diaz according to General Huerta, minister for foreign affairs. Senor Moreno said today that General Diaz was at liberty to come to the capital when he chose.

The fact that General Diaz was presently relieved from his mission to Japan by the foreign office after he had completed his assignment from the war department in France, reflects him of any charge of insubordination, according to officials here.

The members of the embassy which accompanied General Diaz to Europe on the way to Japan were arrested for disobeying orders the government had sent them at Havana to return to Paris as soon as possible. This was the explanation given by Senor Moreno today. He said they would be re-embarked on the next steamer for Europe to John Francisco de la Huerta, Mexican minister to France, who is the latest person appointed by the government to carry out the task of thanking Japan for her participation in the Mexican revolution.

Senor Moreno regarded it as unjust that after spending $45,000 in money of the Mexican government these men should refuse to fulfill the mission entrusted to them.

Another crowd, but smaller than yesterday's, gathered at the railroad station early this morning to greet General Diaz should he arrive from Veracruz.

Not only General Diaz but all the candidates in the field have received the assurance from Senor Moreno on behalf of Provisional President Huerta that they will have every guarantee of freedom from molestation during the election next Sunday.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once—Stops Falling Out.

Immediate!—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes thick, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair; but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yet—yet really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, safe hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

NAVAJO CHIEF GOT PICKLED, HE TELLS THE COURT
Many Goats Witness for Prosecution in Liquor Case of the United States Against Antonio Leyba.

That he agreed to go on a prospecting trip with Antonio Leyba, that the trip was delayed and that both he and Leyba got drunk on liquor furnished by Leyba, was the substance of the story told a jury in the United States court this morning by Chief Many Goats.

Chief Many Goats is a Navajo and resides twenty-seven miles northwest of Gallup, in which town he told the court he procured the tag which resulted in the trouble for Leyba.

Other witnesses to the case against Leyba were Manuelito No. 1 and Manuelito No. 2, descendants of the famous war chief of the Navajos. Leyba is defended by Attorney Marcia C. de Bues, while District Attorney Burkhardt is looking after the case for the government. The trial is necessarily being drawn out because of the prolixity of the Indian witnesses to begin their stories five years before the event in question and gently lead up to the fact which the attorney is trying to develop.

Another cause of delay is the double interpretation, it being necessary first to interpret from English to Navajo and then again from Navajo to Spanish for the benefit of the jurors who do not speak English.

In the law side of the court this morning the Vermont Marble company as intervenor in the case of Brown, trustee, vs. A. W. Amos, et al., secured a judgment in the sum of $2,500 and costs of suit. This is an action growing out of the purchase of some marble which was used in the federal building in this city by Contractor Amos.

Pursuant to agreement between the parties the jury in the case of Brown, trustee, vs. the First National Bank of New Mexico, was discharged last night and the case submitted to Judge Pope. This move was due to the fact that the points involved were largely questions of law, the facts being admitted by both sides. After listening to arguments by Francis E. Wood for the plaintiff and by Attorney Harvey for the defense the court took the case under advisement.

SEE OUR GLOVE WINDOW

It will show you more and better Gloves at a glance from the street than are carried in the entire stocks of most stores

A Triumph of Glove Completeness

No reasonable Man, Woman or Child can ask for a style of Glove which we cannot furnish. As for quality, we need only say that the stock is featured by the famous MARK CROSS and FOWNES lines—the recognized leaders of glovedom. Prices, as usual at this store, will be found the very lowest consistent with quality.

Women's Gloves

In the Mark Cross line we call special attention to the new WASHABLE DOE SKINS—suitable for either dress or street wear and particularly sensible because of the washable feature. Then there are the very distinctive Mark Cross dress gloves, and the world-famous MARK CROSS DOG SKIN gloves for street wear.

A FOWNES novelty is a white glove with heavy, black braiding—very smart and distinctive. There is also a mighty pretty gray Fownes glove with black braiding. In the popular Mocha style, we show the Fownes make in grey, tan and brown—silk lined, combining style with warmth. The standard Fownes walking glove for women is shown in tan, gray and black.

We have also a complete line of the ever popular, Dent's street gloves. Also long or short Chamoisette gloves, plain or silk lined.

Men's Gloves

Absolutely everything desirable in gloves for men, including the standard Mark Cross, Fownes and Dent's models for street and evening wear.

For AUTOMOBILE and DRIVING wear, special attention is called to these; heavy stock kids with cross-bar ridges; lined and unlined Gauntlets with or without wrist straps; the Mark Cross Gauntlet with full-length pliable cuffs.

For Children

All the "grown-up" glove effects for children, as well as pretty fur tops and warm woolen gloves and mittens.
